

Registering with Teachers Latin America

Thank you for your interest in registering for teaching jobs at Teachers Latin America. In order to register for a teaching or support position with our agency, you need not apply to vacant advertised positions as employing schools will be able to reach you directly to make job offers. You also have the option of applying directly to the jobs you see posted. In order to do this you will need to search our teaching jobs and apply to them.

By registering at Teachers Latin America, you agree to be contacted directly by email by member schools with offers of employment and inquiries as to your qualifications for available positions. Teachers Latin America cannot be held liable for the results of any communications initiated by you the teacher or by a school. Teachers Latin America encourages open and clear communications between teachers and schools and stands ready to assist in helping to answer questions by either.

Applying for a vacancy does not automatically mean you will be successful. Once we receive your application our hard working team will go to work and check your CV to make sure you fulfil our skill requirements. Unfortunately we will not always be able to contact you if you are unsuccessful. It doesn't mean we don't appreciate your effort in applying it's just that sometimes we have so many applications our team cannot get to them all.

We will keep your CV on file and contact you should we have any suitable contracts that become available in your subject and geographical area - there's always a good chance of that happening.

If you want to send a general enquiry you can email us at director@teachers-latin-america.com but please be aware our general enquiry email does not receive the daily attention that the education job application process does. If your enquiry is urgent then don't hesitate in calling our office, our friendly staff are on-hand to tackle anything you can serve them!

Thanks again for your interest. Good luck in your search for education job vacancies and getting that ideal job!
